

PROUDLY PRESENT

The Endocannabinoid System and Cannabis: What Every Healthcare Professional Needs to Know

Are you a Nurse or other Healthcare Professional who would benefit from learning about the therapeutic, and medical uses of Cannabis (Marijuana)?

Earn CEUs while you learn about: the endocannabinoid system; the science behind the medicine; safety and effectiveness; and the therapeutic uses of cannabis, from a pioneering medical expert in the field of cannabis nursing.

The course is designed for healthcare professionals but is open to anyone!

6 Contact Hours (California Board of Registered Nursing Provider)
$125 before February 9th / $150 at the door

The course includes a syllabus, Hawaii's Drug Policy Forum Guidebook to Hawaii's law, and ONE free admission to the Cannabis Expo

(Private entrance for enrolled attendees located on the Ward Avenue side, through to the Hawaii Suites. Signs will be posted)

Friday, February 10th, 2017 from 9:00am-4:00pm
Neil S. Blaisdell Exhibition Hall, Hawaii Suites
777 Ward Ave, Honolulu, Hawaii
Phone: 434.260.3779
Email: HawaiiCannabisExpo@gmail.com

Presenter:

Mary Lynn Mathre, RN, MSN, CARN (US Navy Nurse Corps), Independent addictions consultant. Co-Founder and President of American Cannabis Nurses Association and Patients Out of Time, a national non-profit organization dedicated to educating healthcare professionals and the public about the therapeutic use of cannabis.

For more information or to register for classes, go to: www.PatientsOutOfTime.org/ or www.HawaiiCannabisExpo.com